

Terms of Use

Updated: October 11, 2023

I. CONDITIONS OF USE

Welcome to the Taylor Law Offices PLLC ("Taylor Law") website (the "Website"). Taylor Law operates as a Professional Limited Liability Company organized under the laws of the State of Idaho. By accessing or using the website, you indicate that you have read and understand this Terms of Use Agreement (the "Agreement") and agree to be bound by it. You must accept the terms of the Agreement in order to use the Website. If you do not understand or have questions about the Agreement, immediately stop all use of the website and contact frontdesk@taylorlaw.com. This Agreement may periodically change without notice, so you should check the Agreement before every attempt to use the website. When the Agreement is changed, the date of the latest revision will appear at the top of this page.

A. No Legal Services or Attorney Client Relationship

Although the website may provide information concerning potential legal issues, it is not a substitute for legal advice from qualified counsel. You should not and are not authorized to rely on the website as a source of legal advice. This website is not intended to serve as a source of legal advice for any purpose. Your use of the website does not create any attorney-client relationship between you and Taylor Law.

The website contains electronic contact information for many Taylor Law attorneys. The mere act of contacting Taylor Law or one of the Taylor Law attorney's, however, does not create an attorney-client relationship. If you wish to become a client of Taylor Law, you must contact our firm and explicitly negotiate a retention in writing. The website is not an invitation to form an attorney-client relationship.

Unless you have an attorney-client relationship with Taylor Law, we are not obliged to keep confidential information you may send us. Under no circumstances, therefore, should you send confidential information to Taylor Law unless you have been authorized to do so by a Taylor Law attorney or you have a pre-existing documented attorney-client relationship with Taylor Law.

No user of this website should act or refrain from acting on the basis of information on this site without seeking legal advice from counsel in the relevant jurisdiction. Taylor Law expressly disclaims liability with respect to actions taken or not taken based on the contents of this site.

Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome.

B. User Conduct

You agree that you will not use the website for any illegal purpose. In addition, you agree that:

1. You will not harvest, collect or otherwise use contact information made available on the website for the purpose of sending unsolicited improper communications, including without limitation, unsolicited bulk email (collectively, spam).
2. You will not attempt to gain unauthorized access to the website or the servers and network associated with the website.
3. You will not circumvent or attempt to circumvent any security or access control technology implemented on the website, or the servers and network associated with the website.
4. You will not use the website in any manner designed to degrade the performance or functioning of the website, including, without limitation, launching Denial-of-Service (DoS) attacks against the website.

C. Copyright

Taylor Law claims a copyright in its works presented at this website. Taylor Law authorizes you to view, copy, download, and print Taylor Law documents on this website, subject to the following conditions:

1. The documents may be used solely for personal, noncommercial, and informational purposes.

2. The documents may not be modified.
3. The appropriate copyright notice and permission notice must appear in each document: "© Copyright 2023 Taylor Law Offices PLLC. All rights reserved. Taylor Law documents available from this website are protected by the copyright laws of the United States and international treaties. All use subject to Terms of Use."

D. No Warranties and Limitation of Liability

Information provided on the website is provided "as is" without warranty of any kind, either express or implied, including without limitation, warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or noninfringement. Taylor Law periodically adds, changes, improves, or updates the information and documents on the website without notice. Taylor Law assumes no liability or responsibility for any errors or omissions in the content of the website. Your use of the website is at your own risk. Under no circumstances and under no legal theory shall Taylor Law, or any other party involved in creating, producing, or delivering the website's contents be liable to you or any other person for any indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising from your access to, or use of, the website.

E. Links to Third Party Sites

If you use any links on the website to websites not maintained by Taylor Law, you will leave the Taylor Law website. The linked sites are not under the control of Taylor Law, and Taylor Law is not responsible for the contents of any linked site or any link contained on a linked site. Taylor Law provides these links to you only as a convenience, and the inclusion of any link does not imply recommendation, approval, or endorsement by Taylor Law of the site.

F. Privacy Policy

Your use of the website is also governed by our Privacy Policy, which can be found at [\[link to Privacy Policy\]](#). By using the website, you acknowledge and agree that internet transmissions are never completely private or secure. You understand that any message or information you send to the website may be read or intercepted by others, even if there is a special notice that a particular transmission is encrypted.

G. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

This Agreement is governed by and shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Idaho, without respect to its conflict of laws principles. Any claim or dispute between you and Taylor Law that arises in whole or in part from the website shall be decided exclusively by a court of competent jurisdiction located in Idaho.

H. Miscellaneous

If any provision of this Agreement is found to be unlawful, void, or unenforceable, then that provision will be deemed severable from this Agreement and will not affect the validity and enforceability of any remaining provisions. No waiver by either party of any breach or default hereunder shall be deemed to be a waiver of any preceding or subsequent breach or default. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between you and Taylor Law concerning your use of the website.

I. Contact Information

For any questions regarding this Agreement or the website, please contact Taylor Law at:

Taylor Law Offices PLLC
1112 W. Main St., Ste. 101
Boise, Idaho 83702
Phone: (208) 342-3006
Email: frontdesk@taylorlaw.com

Privacy Policy

Updated: October 11, 2023

Taylor Law Offices PLLC, including any associated entities (collectively referred to as "Taylor Law Offices", "we", "our", or "us"), respects your privacy and is committed to collecting, maintaining, and using personal information about you responsibly. This Privacy Policy applies to all your use of our website and services, including any related sites we may offer.

1. Scope of This Policy

This Privacy Policy describes how your personal information will be treated as you use our services. It does not apply to information provided to us in the course of our attorney-client relationships or which is protected by confidentiality, attorney-client privilege, attorney work product doctrine, or any other applicable protection. Nothing in this Policy should be construed as creating an attorney-client relationship with visitors or as diminishing the protections resulting from such relationships. By submitting your personal information on the our sites, you agree to the collection and use of your personal information on the basis described below. If you do not agree, please do not provide any personal information.

2. Information We Collect

- Automated Information Collection: Like many websites, our server logs capture information regarding users' operating systems, browser software, IP addresses, and the full URL clickstreams. We may use this data to improve our services, monitor server performance, and protect our rights or those of our users.
- User-Provided Information: You may provide information by completing forms on our site, such as contact forms and subscription lists. This can include your name, email, phone number, address, professional interests, and other relevant data. If you are a client, we may also collect your financial information for billing purposes.

3. Use of Your Information

We use the information collected to:

- Communicate with you about our services.
- Provide publications, products, and services you request.
- Send you marketing materials we believe will be of interest.
- Process and respond to requests, inquiries, and complaints.
- Administer, monitor, and improve our website and services.

4. Sharing of Information

Your information may be accessed by third-party service providers processing data on our behalf. We do not provide your personal information to third parties for their own marketing purposes unless it's clear that you are signing up for a third-party service or event. Your information, including personal data, may be transferred to and maintained on computers located outside of Idaho, where the data protection laws may differ from those of your jurisdiction. Your consent to this Privacy Policy followed by your submission of such information represents your agreement to that transfer.

5. Disclosure of Your Information

Under certain circumstances, Taylor Law Offices may be required to disclose your personal data. Such circumstances include:

- To comply with a legal obligation
- To protect and defend the rights or property of Taylor Law Offices
- To prevent wrongdoing in connection with our service
- To protect the personal safety of users of the service or the public
- To protect against legal liability

6. Your Rights

In certain circumstances, subject to certain exceptions and applicable law, you may have the following rights in relation to personal information about you:

- the right to know (i) the specific pieces of personal information collected; (ii) the categories of personal information; (iii) the categories of sources of the personal information; (iv) the business or commercial purpose for collecting the personal information; (v) the categories of personal information disclosed for a business purpose; and (vi) the categories of third parties with whom the personal information is shared;
- the right to have personal information corrected, for example if it is incomplete or incorrect;
- the right to opt out of receiving marketing communications at any time;
- the right to request that personal information is deleted;
- the right to restrict or object to the processing of personal information;
- the right to receive a copy of personal information which you have provided to our firm, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format;
- where you have provided personal information voluntarily, or otherwise consented to its use, the right to withdraw your consent;
- the right not to be discriminated against if you exercise any rights conferred on you by the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018;

To protect your privacy, we will verify your identity before granting access or making corrections.

7. Links to Other Sites

Our website may contain links to third-party sites. We do not control and are not responsible for their content or privacy practices. We advise reviewing their privacy policies before providing any personal information.

8. Security

We implement appropriate measures to protect your personal information against unauthorized access or loss. However, no online system is entirely secure, and we cannot guarantee absolute security.

9. Changes to This Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy periodically.

10. Contact Us

If you have questions about this Privacy Policy or wish to exercise your rights, please contact us at frontdesk@taylorlawoffices.com